Turn off the heat – Winter Appeal

With the rise of fuel prices, groceries and the looming flu season, generous Glenelg Shire residents are being asked to help vulnerable older people keep warm and connected this winter.

To launch this year's Winter Warmth Appeal, United Way Glenelg is asking the community to turn off all forms of heating on Friday 1 April from 6.00pm – midnight to highlight the ongoing effort many elderly people face to keep warm every night during the colder months of the year.

The appeal ensures that older people who have to choose or limit the use of heating, food, and electricity, can stay warm and well throughout the colder months.

Now in its third year, United Way Glenelg's goal is to deliver 200 care packages to the doors of older people.

Nicole Carr, United Way Glenelg executive officer is just one person who will spend the evening only using a blanket and a hot chocolate to keep warm.

"Winter often places additional pressures on households, especially vulnerable older people," she said.

"Giving the community the chance to create a lived experience albeit for a short period of time, generates an understanding of the struggles facing many living in the Glenelg Shire," Ms. Carr said.

"We're encouraging students, service clubs, CEO's, in fact everyone in the community to get behind the appeal. All we're asking for is a donation of $10 per person or you go to our appeals page and specifically select how you wish to give the gift of warmth."

"As an added incentive any donation made during the launch will be matched up to $10,000 thanks to United Way Glenelg's Lewis Court Fund," concluded Ms. Carr.

United Way Glenelg will keep the community informed of the progress of the launch with live updates throughout the evening on both Facebook and Instagram.

Donations can be made by going to the winter appeal campaign page <https://www.unitedwayglenelg.com.au/get-involved/give/winter-appeal/> or scan the QR code.

Each package is valued at $100 and contains basic food, toiletries, reading material, an activity, grocery voucher, blanket, and socks. A new addition to the packages will be a local coffee card, enabling older people to come together and connect during the long days.
